

Privacy Policy, Disclaimers, Copyright Policy

Our privacy policy:

At Mercuri Conferencing, we understand the importance of protecting any and all information that you provide us with. We place a very high value on both your confidentiality and your right to privacy. We have taken all reasonable steps necessary to ensure that this web site is secure and that only authorized Mercuri personnel have access to your information.

We will never sell, rent, loan or disclose any of the information that you have provided us with to anyone outside of Mercuri Conferencing. Furthermore, all Mercuri employees are fully bonded and must sign Confidentiality and Non-Disclosure contracts as terms of their employment.

While holding all of your information as confidential, we do reserve the right to disclose the information where required by law, or to comply with such legal instruments as court orders, search warrants or subpoenas.

Here's how we use your information:

You provided your information to us on a voluntary basis when you completed the "Account Set-Up" or "Contact Us" pages. We collect and use that information only for the purposes for which it was provided to us. Under the "Account Set-Up" page, we will open an account and deliver to you the services that you requested of us. Under the "Contact Us" page, we will use your information to determine how to most effectively provide you with the information that you had requested.

From time to time, we may use our Customer Contact information to conduct periodic/random Customer Satisfaction Surveys or to introduce new services that you might benefit from. In all cases, our motivation is to constantly improve the level of service that we are providing to you.

Our legal disclaimer:

All content of the Mercuri Conferencing website is provided to you for your information and with the sincere desire to assist you when making your conferencing decisions. While, to the best of our knowledge, the content is 100% accurate and current, we assume no liability or responsibility for any potential errors or omissions in this site's content. We have simply done our best to make sure nothing has been misrepresented.

Copyright:

While everything that you read and see on the Mercuri Conferencing website is protected by copyright, please feel free to download or print any displayed materials as long as it is for the purposes of either using our services or for considering Mercuri as your Conferencing Service Provider. You must have express written consent from Mercuri Conferencing prior to copying or using any logo found on this website.